Positive online behavior

OBJECTIVE

To learn how the internet can be used positively.

OUTCOME

To be aware of the effect that positive online behavior can have on you and others.

MATERIALS

A copy of the pictures below (you can use the accompanying slides), each child requires access to the internet.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Introduce the exercise to the children, and present the objectives and outcomes.
2. Present the following pictures to the children using the accompanying slides:

3. Ask the children to spend about 10-15 minutes searching for the people above online to see how each of them have used the internet for a positive cause and the effect this has had on others and the world. The children can type their findings into a Word document.
4. Encourage the children to discuss the information they have found.
5. End the exercise by explaining to the children that the internet can be used for doing positive activities, which are more likely to have a positive effect on them and the people who view their online behavior compared with doing negative activities.

EVALUATION

- Ask each child to say how they would like to use the internet and what they want their behavior to do for others.

NOTES

- Children can work in pairs or small groups if there are not enough computers available for each child.
